

Ken Eno's Project File

#3

Audiobooks' concert at Bluedot Festival

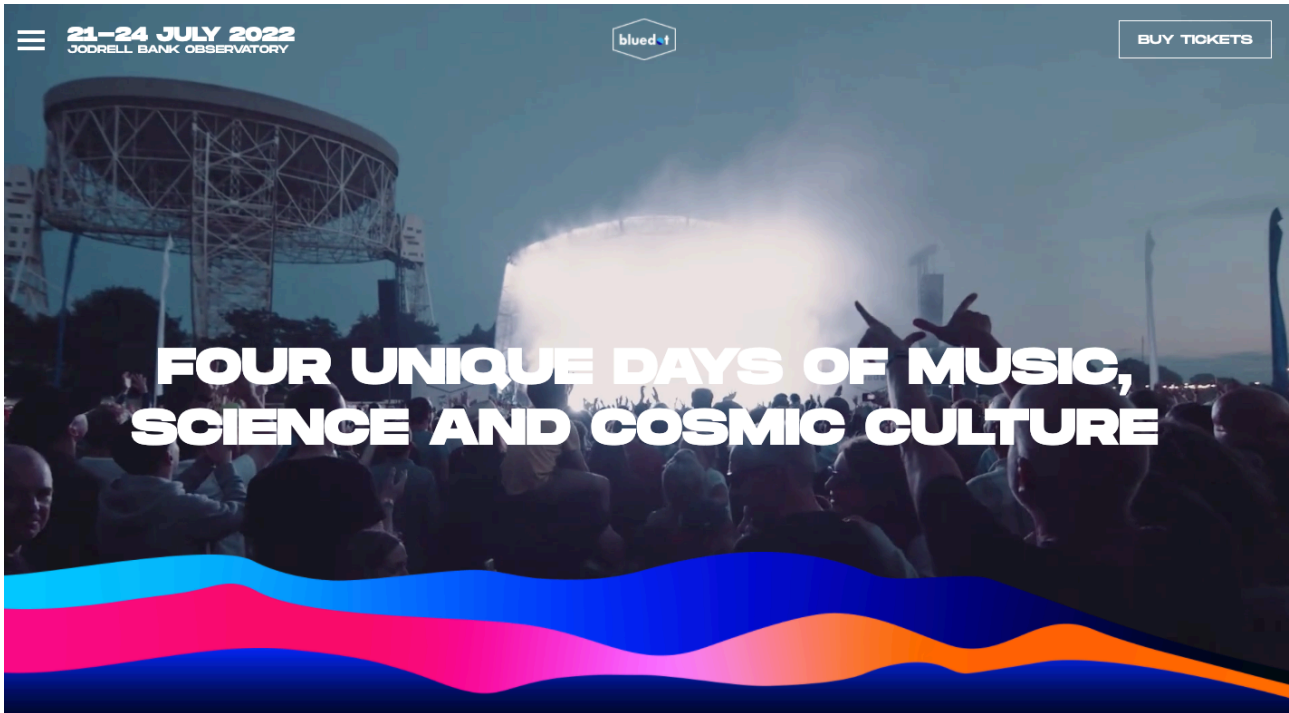

Role: Tour sound engineer

Event: Bluedot Festival (<https://www.discoverthebluedot.com/>)

Starring: Audiobooks

Location: Jodrell Bank Discovery Centre, Macclesfield SK11 9DL, UK

Date: 24th July 2019

Bluedot is a music, science and culture event held annually in July since 2016 at Jodrell Bank Observatory in Cheshire, England, combining music, live science experiments, expert talks and immersive artworks. The event is endorsed by the University of Manchester, current owners of the observatory.

Audiobooks are Evangeline Ling and David Wrench. Evangeline is a 21 year old art student and musician from Wimbledon and David is one of the most in demand mixers and producers in modern music, a sometime cohort of Julian Cope and former denizen of North Wales – might seem an unlikely pairing. Yet a chance encounter at a mutual friend's party just one week after David had moved south to the capital very quickly led to an experimental studio session that's been going on ever since.

For Ken, despite the fact it was his first time working with Audiobooks and there was only a short soundcheck before their performance, he accomplished his role and as result, he was asked for working for their show again later in the same year.